

Trans Issues and Discussion

Posted: 2025-10-17 03:24:24.188452

Where do people on Egologos stand on trans issues? I want to help anyone here understand trans issues with more context, whether it be the nature of trans identity itself, the inclusion of trans identity in our society, or government policy surrounding trans issues. I might not be the best person for the job considering I'm just some cisgendered dude, but I have stood on the other side of the trans debate and might have understand the position you may hold and some resources/information that might be relevant to your understanding of the issue.

Regardless of I ask that nobody use their voice to dehumanize or devalue trans people. They are your fellow humans and deserve dignity and respect, no matter what.